Felicity Gartelmann
Architect

Felicity completed a Bachelor of Visual Arts at the University of Adelaide, SA before commencing a Bachelor of Design Studies also at the University of Adelaide. As a student Felicity gained international experience working for Urban Projects, Hong Kong and Ryden Architects, Edinburgh as well as having the privilege of working on the Scottish Parliament Building with Mivan Limited. Following this Felicity returned to Australia to complete a Bachelor of Architecture again at the University of Adelaide. During this time Felicity held a position at nationally acclaimed Troppo Architects.

Since completing her formal training Felicity worked for Johnson Pilton Walker, Sydney where she lead a number of teams as project architect on a range of refurbishment projects at the Sydney Opera House. More recently Felicity worked as a core member of Sam Crawford Architects Sydney where she again acted as project architect for several high profile houses in addition to a number of commercial buildings.

Felicity joined lahznimmo architects in early 2011 and jumped on board a number of exciting projects including the Saint John Bosco Church addition; the refurbishment of the Freehills Law Library, the Roundhouse and the Wallace Wurth Building, all at the University of New South Wales and Bowen Place Crossing Select Design Procurement for the National Capital Authority, Canberra.
